ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED RUSH — TIME DATED

Thomas J. Coates, PhD, associate professor, medicine, and Eliseo J. Perez-Stable, Jr., MD, assistant professor, have received a $990,000 three-year grant from the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute to study the treatment of mild hypertension.

The researchers need physician referrals of potential participants to study how changing lifestyles and beta blocker therapy can help treat hypertension. Participants should be between the ages of 18 and 59, have an elevated diastolic blood pressure (over 90), should not be on antihypertensive medications nor using insulin or receiving treatment for asthma. For further information physicians should call Coates or Perez-Stable at x65446.

Project coinvestigators are Robert R. Baron, David Feigal, Roy Halliday, Kenneth R. Pelletier, Stephen B. Hulley and Kathy McHenry.

A reminder about convenient banking on campus . . . The Wells Fargo Financial Services Center, located in Millberry Union adjacent to the Central Desk, provides the following services:

- financial services officer available Mondays and Wednesdays 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Fridays 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., or call for an appointment, 544-2300;
- loans—auto, personal, real estate, home equity, marine, aircraft;
- regular checking account with no monthly fee;
- lines of credit (capital, equity, portfolio advantage);
- credit cards, IRA account, time deposit, market-rate savings;
- brokerage services.

With direct deposit, Wells Fargo offers a free checking account with access to the Express Stop machine for withdrawals up to $100 per day. If you do not bank with Wells Fargo, you may purchase a special limited service card entitling you to withdraw up to $40 per day from the Express Stop machine at a cost of $4 per year for the automatic teller card and $.20 per transaction.

UCSF researchers are seeking volunteers who suffer from social anxiety or the impact of the death of a loved one for a study designed to understand the relationship between the conscious and unconscious mental processes.

Conducted by the Center for the Study of Neuroses at LPPI, the project needs people, preferably between the ages of 21 and 45, with recurrent intrusive or involuntary ideas or emotional states, for example those who experience panic and anxiety at the prospect of presenting work to a supervisor. Researchers also are looking for individuals who have lost a loved one within the last three years and who continue to be troubled by pangs of emotion related to images and memories of the deceased.

Selected subjects will have a free in-depth psychological evaluation. Subjects also will be paid $10 per hour for participating in interviews and tests that will explore early memories, dreams, imagery and stream of consciousness.

The study may shed light on such complex problems as repetitive irrational choices, intrusive memories, unwanted fantasies, and slips of the tongue, according to Mardi J. Horowitz, MD, director of the Center, and Charles Marmar, MD, codirector.

Subjects should be strongly motivated toward understanding and changing the problem pattern, and be available for daytime sessions several days a week for a period of months. For further information call Marmar at x67558, Monday to Wednesday 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Thursday and Friday 1 to 4 p.m.

DEADLINE

Deadline for the next issue of Today & Tomorrow, covering the time period Feb. 1-14, 1986 will be Tues., Jan. 21, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News & Public Information Services, 532 Parnassus Ave., Rm. 300, x61541 or x62557.

TODAY & TOMORROW

JANUARY 18-31, 1986

Graham Chedd, award-winning producer of PBS documentaries for Nova, Odyssey and Frontline, will show clips of his latest project, "Star Wars," at the Sixth Chancellor's Distinguished Lecture for the Public Understanding of Science on Tuesday, January 21, at 3 p.m. in Cole Hall.

"Star Wars" is a combined Nova-Frontline program on the strategic defense initiative. At his public lecture he also will show clips of some of the programs he has produced in the past.

One of the country's leading producers of TV documentaries on science and medicine, Chedd was a member of the original staff of the PBS science series, Nova. He produced a series of one-hour specials for commercial TV, "Discover: The World of Science," and produced the PBS series on medical ethics titled "Hard Choices" in 1980/81, which won a DuPont-Columbia Award.

During the week of January 21, Chedd will meet on campus with small groups of researchers, clinicians and students.

Three major campus lectures have been dedicated to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., whose birthday was on Wednesday, January 15, and whom the nation officially honors on Monday, January 20.

- Several hundred people attended the Tenth Herbert McLean Evans Memorial Lecture on Wednesday, January 15. Beatrice Mintz, senior member, Fox Chase Institute of Cancer Research, Philadelphia, presented "Cell & Gene Transfer in Hematopoiesis."
- The Sixth Chancellor's Distinguished Lecturer for the Public Understanding of Science is Graham Chedd. He will discuss "Science on Television" on Tuesday, January 21, at 3 p.m. in Cole Hall. (See adjacent story for details.)
- Neal L. Benowitz, MD, UCSF associate professor of medicine, will present the Community Health Lecture, "Hypertension: Recent Developments in its Prevention and Treatment," on Wednesday, January 22, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium at the UCSF-Laurel Heights campus, 3333 California Street.

To further celebrate King's birthday, the UCSF Black Caucus is displaying a commemorative poster of Dr. King in the Medical Sciences lobby. The Caucus and the UCSF Black Student Alliance also are sponsoring a kick-off celebration for Black History Month on Friday, January 31, from 4 to 7 p.m. in the Millberry Union cafeteria. (See the next issue of Today & Tomorrow for a complete listing of all Black History Month events.)

David A Hamburg, MD, president of the Carnegie Corporation, will speak on "Toward Healthy Development in Childhood and Adolescence," on Tuesday, January 28, at 3 p.m. in Toland Hall as part of the Charles M. and Martha Hitchcock Foundation Lecture program.

Hamburg, who has been president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science since 1984, is former professor and chair of psychiatry at Stanford. World-renowned for his contributions to the field of neurological and behavioral sciences, he most recently received national attention for his research on the causes of violence and terrorism, and reducing the risk of nuclear war.

NEWS BRIEFS

Hamburg also will lecture at UC-Berkeley in Wheeler Auditorium at 4 p.m. on the following days:

- Thursday, Jan. 23: "Avoiding Nuclear War."
- Monday, Jan. 27: "International Cooperation for Health."
- Wednesday, Jan. 29: "Toward Healthy Development in Childhood and Adolescence."

Hamburg's lecture at UCSF is sponsored by the Graduate Division and the Department of Psychiatry.

Chancellor Krevans has asked deans, directors and other administrators for nominations for the UCSF Medal—the campus' most prestigious award, recognizing outstanding individuals who have made great personal contributions to UCSF or to the broader community. Nominations should be sent to the Chancellor's Office, Room S 126, no later than Monday, January 27. The awards will be presented at the Founders Day banquet on Thursday, April 3.

The next campus blood drive will be held on Monday, January 27, in the main lounge of Millberry Union, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the mezzanine level of the School of Nursing building, 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Donors are asked to bring personal identification. For further information call x64013.

Blood donation raffle prizes will be a pair of $50 gift certificates for the Washington Square Bar & Grill, donated by the UCSF Associated Students and the restaurant.

The alumni associations of the schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy will stage contests among the four classes in each school, with cash prizes being awarded to classes that donate the most blood.

Some 200 pints of blood were donated during the campus blood drive held in October. Third-year dental student Paul Himmler and Lloyda A. French, project assistant, family & community medicine, were winners of October's raffle. First place for the most blood went to the School of Dentistry second-year class, Dental Hygiene first- and second-year classes, and the School of Pharmacy first-year class. Second place was held by Dental III and Pharmacy II, third place Dental I and Pharmacy III.

A memorial service will be held for Bay Area artist Bernard Baruch Zakheim on Tuesday, January 21, at 4 p.m. in Toland Hall.

Members of Zakheim's family will discuss the artist's life—from his political asylum from Poland in 1920 to his becoming an artist in the US. The service will include personal reflections by John B. de C.M. Saunders, MD, UCSF chancellor emeritus, and a showing of the multi-media production "Zakheim." Produced by Pat Sherman of Santa Rosa, this 12-minute, award-winning production shares glimpses of Zakheim—as a sculptor, furniture designer and painter. A reception will follow the service in Toland Hall.

Zakheim, who died in November, spent four years painting the 10 frescoes on the walls of UCSF's Toland Hall. They tell the vivid story of the history of medicine in the West, spotlighting dozens of medical personalities, among them Hugh Toland, whose medical school, founded in the 1800s, later became part of UCSF; John Townsend, San Francisco's first practicing physician; Lucy Wanzer, the first woman to graduate in medicine from UCSF in 1876; UCSF Nobel laureate George Whipple, and the late UCSF pharmacologist Chauncey Leake.

Zakheim also painted the frescoes which hung for years in the old UCSF School of Medicine building, then were moved into the third floor lobby of Health Sciences West, and now are installed in the HSW 300 and 301 classrooms.

The carved redwood statue, called "The Genius of Healing," which stands in the lobby of the School of Nursing, also is by Zakheim.

The UCSF Library has a computer terminal for individual online searching available to faculty, staff and students weekdays after 5 p.m. and Sunday afternoons. Anyone using the terminal must contact vendors directly to obtain access codes and to make billing arrangements. Directions are posted near the computer and a set of reference manuals needed for searching databases at the National Library of Medicine are available at the reference desk. For further information call x62334.

Margretta Styles, dean of the School of Nursing, has announced she will step down as dean January 1, 1987, the tenth anniversary of her appointment.

Pointing out that January 2, 1986 marked the completion of her ninth year as dean, Styles declared that she has asked the Chancellor to institute a search for a successor to replace her as of January 1, 1987. After a period of administrative leave, she will return to professorial duties on a full-time basis. "I anticipate with pleasure participating in future developments in a different role and under new leadership," Styles said.

Styles came to UCSF in 1977 from Wayne State University, where she was professor and dean at the College of Nursing. A member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences, she has received numerous awards, including the 1985 Lulu Hassenplug Award from the California Nurses Association, the Distinguished Alumni Award from Yale University School of Nursing and the 1982 American Journal of Nursing Books of the Year Award.

Two UCSF police officers last week helped rescue some 20 people from a burning building in the Western Addition. Officers John Fox and Reggie Hamilton were driving along Oak Street after midnight on their way to investigate the cause of an alarm at the Animal Care Facility in Oyster Point. They were flagged down suddenly by a man who reported heavy smoke billowing from an apartment building.

The two stopped the car and jumped out to run into a smoke-filled building on Page Street. They banged on the walls shouting "Police officers. Fire! Everyone out of the building." On their way into the building the officers found an elderly woman who said her legless husband was in a wheelchair and unable to escape the burning building. After carrying the man to safety, they then helped evacuate 11 people from the first building and another 11 from an adjoining one.

An accreditation team from the Western Association of Schools and Colleges will be on campus Tuesday to Friday, February 11 to 14. UCSF already has submitted an institutional self-study to the Association's Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities. Copies of the study are available in the UCSF Library, Room S 257.

Members of the campus community will have an opportunity to meet the accreditation team and voice any opinions on pertinent issues on Thursday, February 13, at 2 p.m. in Room C 517. For further information call x61883.
